The FILIGREE BALL

...By...
ANNA KATHARINE GREEN,
Author of "The Mystery of Agatha Webb,"

"I acknowledge having been in the Moore house and even having been in its southwest chamber, but not at the time supposed. It was on the previous night." He went on to relate how, being in a nervous condition and having the key to this old dwelling in his pocket, he had amused himself by going through its dilapidated interior. All of this made a doubtful impression which was greatly emphasized when, in reply to the inquiry as to where he got the light to see by, he admitted that he had come upon a candle in an upstairs room and made use of that; though he could not remember what he had done with this candle afterward, and looked dazed and quite at sea, till the coroner suggested that he might have carried it into the closet of the room where his fingers had left their impression in the dust of the mantel-shelf.

Then he broke down like a man from whom some prop is suddenly snatched and looked around for a seat. This was given him, while a silence, the most dreadful I ever experienced, held every one there in check. But he speedily rallied and, with the remark that he was a little confused in regard to the incidents of that night, waited with a wild look in his averted eye for the coroner's next question.

Unhappily for him, it was in continu-

It is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her confidences and keep them to himself. He is strong, has more experience of the world, and can help the woman who needs advice. There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has ill and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for every woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community, or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because she was a woman. There is every reason why she should write to some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century, like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All his correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhoea, that, after curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

ation of the same subject. Had he bought candles or not at the grocer's around the corner? Yes, he had. Before visiting the house? Yes. Had he also bought matches? Yes. What kind? Common safety matches. Had he noticed when he got home that the box he had just bought was half empty? No. Nevertheless he had used many matches in going through this old house, had he not? Possibly. To light his way upstairs, perhaps? It might be. Had he not so used them? Yes. Why had he done so if he had candles in his pocket, which were so much easier to hold and so much more lasting than a lighted match? Ah, he could not say; he did not know; his mind was confused. He was awake when he should have been asleep. It was all a dream to him.

The coroner became still more persistent. "Did you enter the library on your solitary visit to this old house?" "I believe so." "What did you do there?" "Pottered around. I don't remember." "What light did you use?" "A candle, I think." "You must know." "Well, I had a candle. It was in a candelabrum." "What candle and what candelabrum?" "The same I used upstairs, of course." "And you cannot remember where you left this candle and candelabrum when you finally quitted the house?" "No. I wasn't thinking about candles."

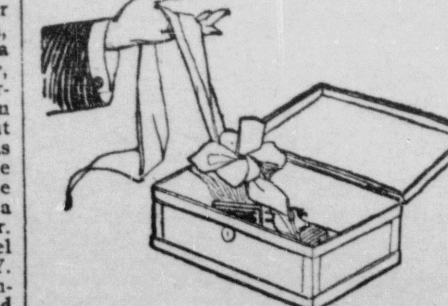

"What were you thinking about?" "The rupture with my wife and the bad name of the house I was in." "Oh! And this was on Tuesday night?" "Yes, sir." "How can you prove this to us?" "I cannot." "But you swear?" "I swear that it was Tuesday night, the night immediately preceding the one when—when my wife's death robbed me of all earthly happiness."

It was feelingly uttered, and several faces lightened; but the coroner repeating, "Is there no way you can prove this to our satisfaction?" the shadow settled again, and on no head more perceptibly than on that of the unfortunate witness.

It was now late in the day and the atmosphere of the room had become stifling, but no one seemed to be conscious of any discomfort, and a general gasp of excitement passed through the room when the coroner, taking out a box from under a pile of papers, disclosed to the general gaze the famous white ribbon with its dainty bow, lying on top of the fatal pistol.

That this special feature, the most interesting one of all connected with this tragedy, should have been kept so long in reserve and brought out just at this time, struck many of Mr. Jeffrey's closest friends as unnecessarily dramatic; but when the coroner, lifting out the ribbon, remarked tentatively, "You know this ribbon?" we were more struck by the involuntary cry of surprise which rose from some one in the crowd about the door than by the look with which Mr. Jeffrey eyed it and made the necessary reply. That cry had something more than nervous excitement in it. Identifying the person who had uttered it as a certain busy little woman well known in town, I sent an officer to watch her; then recalled my attention to the point the coroner was attempting to make. He had forced Mr. Jeffrey to recognize the ribbon as the one which had fastened the pistol to his wife's arm. Now he asked whether, in his opinion, a woman could tie such a bow to her own wrist, and when in common justice Mr. Jeffrey was obliged to say no, waited a third time before he put the general suspicion again into words: "Can you not, by some means or some witness, prove to us that it was on Tuesday night and not on Wednesday you spent the hours you speak of on this scene of your marriage and your wife's death?"

The hopelessness which more than once had marked Mr. Jeffrey's features since the beginning of this inquiry reappeared with renewed force as this suggestive question fell again upon his ears, and he was about to repeat his plea of forgetfulness when the coroner's attention was diverted by a request made in his ear by one of the detectives. In another moment Mr. Jeffrey had been waived aside and a new witness sworn in.

You can imagine every one's surprise, mine most of all, when this witness proved to be Uncle David.

CHAPTER XIV.

I DO not know why the coroner had so long delayed to call this witness. What he said was in the way of confirming the last witness' testimony as to his having been at the Moore house on Tuesday evening. Mr. Moore, who was very particular as to dates and days, admitted that the light which he had seen in a certain window of his ancestral home on the evening when he summoned the police was but the repetition of one he had detected there the evening before. It was this repetition which alarmed him and caused him to break through all his usual habits and leave his home at night to notify the police.

The coroner asked him if he had seen Mr. Jeffrey go in on the night in question; if he had ever seen any one go in there since the wedding, or even if he had seen any one loitering about the steps or sneaking into the rear yard. But the answer was always no; these same ones growing more and more emphatic, and the gentleman more and more impenetrable and dignified as the examination went on. In fact, he was as unassailable a witness as I have ever heard testify before any jury. Beyond the fact already mentioned of his having observed a light in the opposite house on the two evenings in question he admitted nothing. His life in the little cottage was so engrossing, he had his organ, his dog, why should he look out of the window? Had it not been for his usual habit of letting his dog run the pavements for a quarter of an hour before finally locking up for the night he would not have seen as much as he did.

"Have you any stated hour for doing this?" the coroner now asked. "Yes; half past 9." "And was this the hour when you saw that light?" "Yes; both times."

As he had appeared at the station house at a few minutes before 10, he was probably correct in this statement. He wound up with such a distinct repetition of his former emphatic assertion as to the presence of light in the old house on Tuesday as well as Wednesday evening that Mr. Jeffrey's testimony in this regard received a decided confirmation. I looked to see some open recognition of this, when suddenly and with a persistence understood only by the police the coroner recalled Mr. Jeffrey and asked him what proof he had to offer that his visit of Tuesday had not been repeated the next night and that he was not in the building when that fatal trigger was pulled.

At this leading question a lawyer sitting near me edged himself forward as if he hoped for some sign from Mr. Jeffrey which would warrant him in interfering. But Mr. Jeffrey gave no such sign. I doubt if he even noticed this man's proximity, though he knew him well and had often employed him as his legal adviser in times gone by. He was evidently exerting himself to recall the name which so persistently eluded his memory, putting his hand to his head and showing the utmost confusion.

"I cannot give you one," he finally stammered. "There is a man who could tell if only I could remember his name." Suddenly, with a loud cry which escaped him involuntarily, he gave a gurgling laugh, and we heard the name "Tallman!" leap from his lips.

The witness had at last remembered whom he had met at the cemetery gate at the hour or near the hour his wife lay dying in the lower part of the city.

The effect was electrical. One of the spectators—some country boor, no doubt—so far forgot himself as to cry out loud enough for all to hear: "Tallman! Let us have Tallman!"

Of course he met with an instant rebuke, but I did not wait to hear it or to see order restored, for a glance from the coroner had already sent me to the door in search of this new witness.

My destination was the Cosmos club, for Phil Tallman and his habits and haunts were as well known in Washington as the figure of Liberty on the summit of the capitol dome. When I saw him I did not wonder. Never have I seen a more amiable looking man or one with a more absentminded expression. To my query as to whether he had ever met Mr. Jeffrey at or near the entrance of Rock Creek cemetery he replied with an amazed look and the quick response:

"Of course I did. It was the very night that his wife— But what's up? You look excited for a detective."

"Come to the morgue and see. This testimony of yours will prove invaluable to Mr. Jeffrey."

The result was an absolute proof that Mr. Jeffrey had been near Soldiers' home as late as 7, which was barely fifteen minutes previous to the hour Mrs. Jeffrey's watch was stopped by her fall in the old house on Waverley avenue. As the distance between the two places could not be compassed in that time, Mr. Jeffrey's alibi could be regarded as established.

When we were all rising, glad of an adjournment and an open interchange of speech, a sudden check in the general rush called our attention back to Mr. Jeffrey. He was standing facing Miss Tuttle, who had fainted away, sitting upright in her chair.

For the Good of the Service.

Brownlow of Tennessee, a clerk in the postoffice department, who acted as disbursing officer of the department at the St. Louis exposition, has been dismissed from the service by order of the president. Brownlow was charged with impertinence and insubordination, and as he declined to withdraw his offensive language to the postmaster general, his dismissal followed.

JAPS PUSHING ON

The Fall of Port Arthur Can Certainly Not Be Very Far Distant.

STOESSEL IS DISABLED

Brave Russian General Commanding
the Fortress Is Reported to Be Badly Wounded.Notwithstanding This He Retains Command and Gives Orders to Hold the Fort.

The Japanese are pressing the fighting for possession of Port Arthur, assaults being made almost continuously upon the eastern line of defenses. Reports from Japanese sources intimate that the ammunition and supplies of the garrison are running short. It is asserted that General Stoessel, the Russian commander at Port Arthur, has been disabled by wounds. There was some sharp fighting the night of Nov. 10 for the possession of the fortified village of Endonululu, near Shakhe, the Russians being first driven out, then retaking the place and finally retiring.

NO GIVING UP

Stoessel Withdraws All Hope From His Perishing Garrison.

Chefoo, Nov. 16.—A Russian torpedo boat destroyer has just entered the harbor. She has not been communicated with yet, owing to the roughness of the sea. It is reported that a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer has been seen outside, watching the movements of the Russian vessel.

It is believed that the Russian vessel under cover of the storm attempted to escape from Port Arthur.

Headquarters of the Third Japanese

Army before Port Arthur, Nov. 16, via Fusan.—It is reported that a wound received by General Stoessel has necessitated his confinement in a hospital; that he refused to relinquish the command of the garrison and that he has issued orders to the troops to die at their posts rather than surrender.

It is said that the spirit of the Russian troops has been dampened by continuous work, the lack of supplies and the hopelessness of their ability to make any successful defense of the fortress. It is said further that many of the Russian soldiers are ready to surrender, but that they are kept at their posts by officers who threaten them with revolvers, and that several soldiers who were suspected of having a desire to desert have been shot as a warning to others. The Japanese now believe that the garrison has almost reached the limit of human endurance.

Spies and Russians who have surrendered report that rations in the fortress have been reduced. The wounded found by the Japanese are evacuated. Russian artillery shells are partly filled with wood and do not explode. This shows that the Russians are short of material for making heavy ammunition. The capture of the eastern fortified ridges will mean the surrender of the fortress in a couple of weeks unless the garrison there retires to the isolated forts. This seems improbable, however, and cold weather and the lack of food and ammunition renders desperate resistance unlikely.

WANTS TO REFORM

Pat Crowe Desires to Lead a Better

Life.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 16.—D. W. Connelley, president of the Anthon (Ia.) State bank, was in St. Louis last week visiting Clarke Brennan, a traveling salesman for Armour & Co. While he was there, Pat Crowe, the alleged kidnapper of the son of E. A. Cudahy of Omaha, came to Brennan's house.

Brennan and Crowe were boys together on neighboring farms in Scott county, Iowa, twenty years ago. Crowe asked for a loan of sufficient money to take him to Chicago, and got it. He said he had reformed and expected soon to make a settlement with the Cudahys and to have the single indictment against him at Omaha quashed, after which he will return to Omaha. He is now in Chicago, according to Connelley, who told the story on his arrival home.

Mass on Board Ship.

Mexico City, Nov. 16.—Pope Pius has granted authority to the Mexican prelates and priests taking part in the great pilgrimage from this country to Lourdes, Rome, and the Holy land, to say mass on the ocean. This is said to be a unique dispensation and is appreciated by hundreds of Mexican Catholics who will sail this week from New York on their pilgrimage.

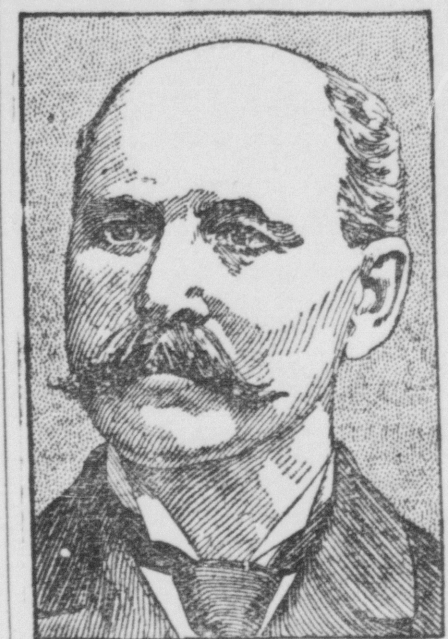

Evidence Multiplies.

Auburn, Cal., Nov. 16.—A careful examination of the remnants of the clothing thrown by young Adolph Weber into the window of his burning house on the evening of the murder of his father, mother, brother and sister has, it is said, developed the fact that there are bloodstains on the trousers worn by him at the time of the tragedy.

mittee $34,300.

Brockton, Mass., Nov. 16.—Governor Elect W. L. Douglas has filed with the secretary of state a statement of his election expenses. The statement certifies that on Sept. 23 last Mr. Douglas gave to the Democratic state central committee $34,300 for the purpose of conducting his campaign. Mr. Douglas adds that he had no other expenses.

FINALLY GAVE UP

French Minister of War Succumbed to Unusual Pressure.

Paris, Nov. 16.—General Andre has resigned the portfolio of minister of war, and Henry Berteaux, a member of the chamber of deputies and a successful broker on the bourse, was nominated as his successor. This change in the ministry is the culmination of fierce assaults upon the administration of the war office, in the course of which the chamber of deputies was the scene of frequent wild disorders, including the recent personal assault upon General Andre. These events stirred the public to a high pitch of excitement and particularly army and parliamentary circles, where a succession of duels evidenced the bitterness.

Couldn't Get Over Fence.

St. Louis, Nov. 16.—After repairs necessitated by Monday's accident had been finished, the immense airship of Hippolyte Francois of France made another ascension late yesterday afternoon from the aeronautic course at the World's Fair. After being up two minutes at the end of a rope the airship crashed into the north wall of the concourse fence and badly smashed the prow. The machine was then brought to the ground and returned to the aerodrome. It will probably take several days to repair the damage.

More Than a Million for Missions.

Boston, Nov. 16.—The annual conference of the Methodist missionary committee was adjourned last evening. During the week a total of nearly $1,537,000 was appropriated to mission work carried on in thirty foreign countries and in sixteen languages in the United States. In nearly every case the appropriations were somewhat in advance of those of last year. Provision was made for starting work in Panama.

Civil Service in Panama.

Washington, Nov. 16.—President Roosevelt has signed an order extending the civil service regulations to all employees of the isthmian canal commission except those appointed directly by the president, day laborers and a few places the nature of which are personal to the members of the commission.

Coaches Turned Upside Down.

St. Catharines, Ont., Nov. 16.—The Chicago Express, westbound on the Grand Trunk railway, collided with a light pilot engine. Both engines were badly damaged and four coaches were turned upside down. Eleven persons were seriously injured.

TARIFF LEGISLATION

Will Not Be Entered Upon Without Proper Deliberation.

Washington, Nov. 16.—No decision has yet been reached by the president and other Republican leaders regarding possible action of congress on the subject of the tariff. It can be said authoritatively that no decision will be reached as to such action, either at a regular or at an extraordinary session of the 59th congress until the subject has been considered thoroughly by the president and his cabinet and his political friends in congress. The president is not bound by any preconceived views on the subject and is open to conviction as to the most desirable course to pursue. He is not inclined to favor an extraordinary session, either for the purpose of taking up the tariff or any other subject; but it is said to be too early yet even to indicate the determination which eventually will be reached.

Escaped to the Bad Lands.

Lancaster, Ohio, Nov. 16.—Seven inmates escaped from the boys' industrial school at 6 o'clock last evening, after overpowering the guards, on the way to the family basement after supper. Two of the escapees were captured near the institution, but the other five, who are desperate characters, are still at large, and every effort is being made to locate them. The plot had been made for twenty to go, but thirteen of the boys weakened at the last minute.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 16.—The two bandits who made a descent on the First National bank of Cody two weeks ago and killed Cashier Midway, committed another bold robbery yesterday when they held up the inmates of Edwards' saloon and gambling house at Thermopolis, Big Horn county, and secured a large sum of money, watches and jewelry. They were mounted on fast horses and escaped to the Bad Lands.

Royal Amenities.

Windsor, Eng., Nov. 16.—The king and queen of Portugal on their arrival here from Portsmouth were welcomed at the railroad station by King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the assemblage presenting a bright spectacle, ablaze with uniforms. The meeting of the monarchs and their consorts was most cordial. They drove to the castle through cheering crowds and gaily decked streets.

W. F. PETER DRUG CO.

THE REPUBLICAN

JAY C. SMITH, Editor and Publisher.

Published at the Seymour, Indiana, office as Second-class Matter.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1904

As Charley Landis said, it was not General Apathy, but General Contentment which led the American people to the polls on November 8.

A good lecture course well patronized is always a good thing for a community. Seymour is promised a good course this year. Make this one a success and we can have a still better one next year.

DURING the recent campaign, The Irish World, published in New York, and edited by Patrick Ford, did splendid service for the Republican cause. The Irish World has always been an able champion of the principles of protection to American industry.

SAMUEL WALLACE, of Madison, will contest the apparent tie with Joe Cravens and demand a seat in the legislature. He has filed notice with the secretary of state alleging that he was elected. He contends that certain ballots thrown out should have been counted for him.

THE time for talking politics in a republic is always; not partisan politics, but politics in the broad sense. Representative republican government realizes its possibilities only in proportion as it is vitalized by an active and intelligent public sentiment. There ought to be not less, but more consideration and discussion of those problems which affect the welfare of the nation.

ONE of the lessons of the election result in Indiana is that honesty is the best policy in political management as well as in private life. The will of the Indiana Democracy was thwarted last spring by force and fraud. Parker caucuses, snap primaries and gag-rule conventions were the order of the day during the brief period of reorganizer domination. This was not Democracy, but the sway of bossism. The people who were denied a voice in the affairs of their own party could not be prevented from casting a ballot that represented righteous protest against such procedure, and the lead-pencils of at least 30,000 honest Democrats wrote the doom of Taggart bossism at the polls on Nov. 8.

PALL BEAKER DROPS DEAD.

Henry Tellman's Sudden Death at Jonesville Tuesday.

Henry Tellman, a retired farmer residing in Jonesville, died suddenly and under peculiar circumstances Tuesday. He attended the funeral of Mrs. Melissa King and was one of the pall bearers.

At the cemetery after the coffin had been lowered in the grave and Elder Thos. Jones had dismissed the audience, he stepped back, turned to walk away, when he fell backwards to the ground.

Elder Jones and several others were close to him when he fell. A physician was called, but nothing could be done to restore him to life. He was apparently dead from the moment that he fell. Heart failure is said to have been the cause of his death.

Henry Tellman was seventy-nine years of age. He was a retired farmer and his home had been in Jonesville the past few years. He formerly lived on a farm south of Jonesville, in Jackson county. He was the father of the late August Tellman, whose home was in this city. He leaves three grown children.

Jackson County Boy.

Beverly Smallwood and wife, of Jackson county, were the guests of John Newcomb and wife, of west Fourth street last week, returning Sunday. They left their little son, Hershel, at the Newcomb home and will return in a few days and place him in the Columbus Sanitarium for treatment. The little fellow is badly crippled and has absolutely no use of his lower limbs. When he was five months of age he was afflicted with whooping cough and his throat became paralyzed, causing almost a complete loss of his voice and rendering his lower limbs useless.

The physicians at the sanitarium think they can restore the little fellow's voice and possibly the use of his limbs. The boy is six years of age and a remarkably bright little fellow. Mr. Smallwood, the child's father, is a brother of Mrs. John Newcomb, of this city.—Columbus Herald.

Shower of Stars.

A great display of heavenly fire works is promised for next Thursday night, when, astronomers tell us, there will be a shower of stars that will dazzle the beholder and make all other similar exhibitions appear insignificant. If you want to see the display at its best keep a sharp watch on the heavens all night, as the exact hour has not been agreed upon for the phenomenon. However, if the spectacle shall be as brilliant as promised it will repay one for the loss of a few hours of sleep.

You Can Be Cured.

No. 11 Cedar Terrace,
HOT SPRINGS, ARK., April 28, 1903.

When I was first married I found that my strength and health were gradually diminishing. I became nervous and irritable, and was in bed a week and sometimes ten days every month, and had intense bearing down pains. My husband had the best physician for me and I used his medicine for nearly four months, but I gradually grew worse, had less strength, and finally, I was unable to leave my bed at all.

A friend who was calling on me brought me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and was so loud in its praise that I told her that I would take it to please her. I was surprised and pleased that before I had used the bottle I really felt better, so I kept on using it. Eight bottles brought back my lost health and strength, and I have not had a sick day in six months.

But Mrs. Finnegan was cured by Wine of Cardui. She is now so well that there are few women who would not be glad to have the health she has. And any woman who has those dreaded bearing down pains can have the same relief.

You can be free from menstrual irregularities if you take this pure vegetable wine. Why don't you take it when you see what it has done for others? Secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

BURGLARS ACTIVE

At Franklin They Break Open the Postoffice Safe and Loot Contents.

NO CLUE TO IDENTITY

Stole Blacksmith Tools and Broke Open the Building, Then Laid Out the Safe.

At Bluff Creek a General Store Was Robbed and the Building Then Burned.

Franklin, Ind., Nov. 16.—The safe in the postoffice in this city was broken into some time during the night and $50 was taken. There is no clue to the identity of the robbers. It is believed an attempt was made to force the safe, though no report of an explosion was heard, and the doors were not much damaged. Both outer doors of the safe were drilled open, and an attempt was made to open the inner vault, but it was unsuccessful. All drawers in the safe were ransacked, and the papers were left on the floor in front of the safe. The tools with which the work was done were identified by George Sedam, a blacksmith, from whom they had been stolen. All the money belonged to employees of the postoffice, and none to the government.

ROBBERS BURN A BUILDING

Burglars Set Fire to a Store at Bluff Creek and Escape.

Greenwood, Ind., Nov. 16.—The store of Eben Martin at Bluff Creek, nine miles southwest of this place, was burned with all its contents. Fire was discovered about 10 o'clock in the morning and was then beyond control. Robbers, it is believed, entered the store and after looting the store set fire to the building. An ax and a crowbar were found at the rear door, which had been pried open. A pair of new shoes was found half a mile from the store. The building was owned by G. J. Brown and was valued at $1,000, with only $600 insurance. Martin's stock was valued at $3,500 and insured for $1,900.

Now Without a Charter.

Indianapolis, Nov. 16.—A telegram from President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor announcing that the A. F. of L. had revoked the charter of the Central Labor Union until such time as the C. L. U. decided to obey the mandates of the A. F. of L., has been received. This telegram was the result of the refusal of the C. L. U. to seat delegates from the United Association of Steam Fitters, despite the orders of the A. F. of L. that this should be done before Nov. 1. The effort to seat delegates from the United Association of Steam Fitters is an old matter with the C. L. U., as the central body has repeatedly refused to seat these delegates, claiming that the local members of the U. A. have not been loyal to the tenets of organized labor.

Woman's Shocking Death.

Greensburg, Ind., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Samuel Riley, forty years old, was burned to death in a fire which completely destroyed her home. The family lives six miles southeast of Greensburg. Mrs. Riley was at home alone, the children being at school and the husband at work. The most plausible theory is that she fell on the stove, her clothing taking fire. When the fire was discovered the interior of the building was in flames, and before help could be secured the building fell in. Only the trunk of the woman's body was recovered, the head and limbs being entirely consumed.

The Chase Case Again.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 16.—It is probable that the attorneys in this city who have been fighting the Moses Fowler Chase case for the Duhmes for the last several months, will take an appeal of the case from the Indiana supreme court to the supreme court of the United States. The attorneys for young Chase think that such a move will be taken on the part of their legal adversaries. The Duhmes' attorneys have sixty days in which to file an application for new hearing, but no such paper has been filed, and the time is nearly up.

Dynamite Under House.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 16.—Two cans of nitroglycerine have been found under the home of E. P. Sanderson, recently murdered near this city, and it is the supposition that the conspirators first planned to blow him up, and were deterred for fear the explosive would explode before they could get out of range.

Her Clothes Caught Fire.

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Henry Lites, one of the pioneer residents of Wabash, is at the point of death as a consequence of severe burns received while burning papers. Her dress ignited and, blazing up, literally cooked her face, neck and breast so that the flesh has flaked off.

Caught Fire From Grate.

Bedford, Ind., Nov. 16.—The two-year-old daughter of Edward Morrison was accidentally burned to death by its clothes catching fire from an open grate.

Quick Arrest.

J. A. Gullledge, of Verber, Ala., was twice in the hospital from a severe case of piles causing 24 tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly arrested future inflammation and cured him. It conquers aches and kills pain. 25c at W. F. Peter Drug Co.

BOILS AND ERUPTIONS

Have been suffering from Impure Blood for many years, having Boils and other Eruptions. Having heard of S. S. S. I decided to try it, and am glad to say that it has done me a great deal of good. I intend to continue to use it, as I believe it to be the best Blood Medicine on the market.

For over fifteen years I have suffered from Impure Blood. About a year ago I had a boil appear on my leg below the knee, which was followed by three more on my neck. I saw S. S. S. advertised and decided to try it. After taking three bottles all Boils disappeared and I have not been troubled any since.

GRO. G. FERTIG,

Newark, Ohio, May 23, 1903.
From childhood I had been bothered with bad blood, skin eruptions and boils. I had boils ranging from five to twenty in number each season. The burning accompanying the eruption was terrible. S. S. S. seemed to be just the medicine needed in my case. It drove out all impurities and bad blood, giving me permanent relief from the skin eruption and boils. This has been ten years ago, and I have never had a return of the disease.

PLENTY OF BUSINESS

Federation of Labor Has Strenuous Session Before It.

San Francisco, Nov. 16.—The second day's session of the convention of the American Federation of Labor abruptly concluded shortly after the afternoon session was called to order yesterday. The change in program was necessitated by the flood of resolutions which poured in when President Gompers called for these documents.

In the space of a half hour sixty-one were read to Secretary Morrison. They were of almost every character that could affect trade organizations, ranging from such topics as petty disputes on union jurisdiction to such questions as woman's suffrage and the exclusion of Japanese. The adjournment was taken that the proper committees might have the afternoon and evening considering the resolutions.

In the evening the greater number of delegates crossed the bay to Oakland, where a mass-meeting was held. The matter of seating William Schardt, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, came up when the committee on credentials recommended that he have no voice in the proceedings. An amendment to the report was carried over the head of the committee, however, which postponed consideration of the case for a day. A fight between the representatives of the boilermakers and structural workers was likewise postponed.

By Order of Court.

Minneapolis, Nov. 16.—Frank P. Bowers of Salem, Ind., has secured possession of his two children, aged eight and five, on an order of Judge Harrison. He secured them by writ of habeas corpus which his wife Leota resisted after two days' trial. The wife ran away from Salem in company with a young man named Martin, John T. Overton, a cousin of the husband, furnishing the money, who came to Minneapolis and joined them afterward. Here they were located with the children. Overton and Mrs. Bowers are in jail awaiting a grand jury hearing.

THE WEARY WAY.

Daily Becoming Less Wearisome to Many in Seymour.

With a back that aches all day. With rest disturbed at night. Annoying urinary disorders. 'Tis a weary way indeed.

Doan's Kidney Pills drive weariness away.

Are endorsed by Seymour citizens. Mrs. S. A. Gibson, of 306 east Second street says: "As far as my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills is concerned I can highly recommend them. I was troubled with pains over the loins and my back was weak and lame. I also had depressing headaches, pains in the back of my neck, was nervous and restless nights and mornings felt more exhausted than when I went to bed. Doan's Kidney Pills sold by Mr. Milhaus the druggist cured me of all these symptoms. I found them very easy to take and they caused no inconvenience while their quick and positive action gratified me highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

MORE CELL ROOM

Needed at Michigan City, Says Warden Reid.

Indianapolis, Nov. 16.—Warden Reid of the state prison at Michigan City was here today to file his biennial report with Governor Durbin. He went into detail regarding the management of the institution and its needs, making a number of suggestions which he hopes the legislature will consider. He says there is not enough cell room. There are now 839 prisoners at the institution. There is single-cell room for about 750. There are always a number of inmates in the hospital and the wards for the insane, but it is necessary now to place two men in some of the cells. The warden says this should not be done, and he suggests that more room be provided. He believes there should be at least 1,000 cells. It is generally understood that the institution has been very successfully managed by Warden Reid, and it is very probable that most of the recommendations will be found in Governor Durbin's message to the legislature.

The race for the United States senate to succeed Charles W. Fairbanks has reached the point where some arrangements are being made for presentation of names before the Republican caucus. For instance, it was reported today that E. H. Gough of Booneville, has been selected to place the name of Congressman James A. Hemenway, his fellow-townman, in nomination. Gough was Hemenway's school-teacher and has long been his patron. It is his boast, it is said, that at every convention where Hemenway has been a candidate he has placed his name before the delegates. It is also said that some of the First district Republicans are so sure that Hemenway is going to win that they are figuring on succeeding him in congress. Jack Osborne, a well-known Evansville politician, who was here today, stated that John Bray of Princeton and John Brown of Rockport, are figuring on becoming candidates for congress. The "powers-that-be," however, have not attempted to make any choice of who shall succeed Hemenway, but it is hinted that Geo. A. Cunningham of Evansville, district chairman, would not be adverse to accepting the position. However, Hemenway's opponents for the senate are quite sure that there will be no vacancy in congress from the First district as the result of the senatorial race. The race is living up and all of the candidates say they are very hopeful of winning.

A committee of grain dealers and other shippers was in session here today planning a campaign to secure the passage of the much-talked-of railroad commission by the legislature at the coming session. This matter has been thoroughly agitated, and the shippers are more a unit in its favor than ever before. At the last session they attempted to secure the passage of a railway commission bill, but it was so drastic that the railroads did not have much trouble defeating it. This time it is said that the bill will be along broader lines and the shippers are hopeful that it will not be fought so hard. The Republican party had a plank in its platform favorable to some legislation along the line proposed, but the railroad lobby is powerful and there is no telling whether or not the proposed measure will be enacted.

While Congressman E. D. Crumpacker of Valparaiso has not formally announced himself a candidate to succeed Senator Fairbanks, he is nevertheless in the race. A. K. Sills of Monticello, Tenth district chairman, and a staunch Crumpacker advocate, who was here today, said that Crumpacker is a candidate, although he does not know when his announcement will be forthcoming. He figures that Crumpacker's strength will be a surprise to his adversaries, although he does not expect him to be in the lead at the start. He believes that Crumpacker's legal ability and judicial temperament will greatly impress the members of the legislature and that he will be a most formidable candidate at the wind-up. Crumpacker, he said, will have fifteen members to start with in the Tenth district.

Senator Fairbanks returned this afternoon from a flying trip to St. Louis. He will be the guest of honor at a non-partisan reception tonight by the Commercial Club. It will be an informal, home-folk affair and word was sent out today that no dress-stuff will be allowed. It will be an opportunity for the senator's friends regardless of their politics, to greet him and extend congratulations. John W. Kern, president of the club, has been a moving spirit in making the arrangements, and one of the principal speeches will be by him.

President Entertained Prince.

Washington, Nov. 16.—At the White House last night Prince Fushima of Japan was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the president. The president received the guests in the blue room and led the way into the state dining room. No ladies were present.

Hunters Limited to Rabbits.

Geneva, Ind., Nov. 16.—Farmers of south Adams county have organized a Game Protective association for the enforcement of the state game laws. Hunters will be limited to killing rabbits.

Aged Woman Burned to Death.

Jonesville, Ind., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Melissa King, seventy-seven years old, accidentally burned a few days ago by the explosion of a lamp, is dead.
